

Review of: "Empowering Future Workforces: Reframing Education to Develop Essential Skills for a Dynamic Labor Market"

Omobola Gambo<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Lead City University of Ibadan

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article titled "Empowering Future Workforces: Reframing Education to Develop Essential Skills for a Dynamic Labor Market" is very timely and relevant to our contemporary times.

However, some things need to be done to make the work more robust. They are;

- 1.The researcher should site more authors to give more evidence to the work.
- 2.It is necessary to define the methodology of the research.
- 3.The education level being referred to should be captured in the work.
- 4.The key skills mentioned; communication, critical thinking, and problem-solving should be more elaborated and discussed.