

Review of: "Socio-cultural factors influencing women empowerment: A cross-sectional study among an ex-criminal tribe in West Bengal, India"

Hayet Kerras¹

¹ Universidad Politécnica de Cartagena

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The work presented is current and of great interest. Equal opportunities represent today an important issue that allows society to evolve and the economy to achieve new added values. This article can be considered for publication if some changes are made:

- In the theoretical framework, it is recommended to specify the relationship between equal opportunities and the achievement of sustainable development goals.
- Specify in more detail how the study group was made up and how the women were contacted.
- Specify in more detail the methodology and tools used for the analysis of the results.
- I have missed a section for discussion of the results before reaching the conclusions, it is recommended to add it.
- It is necessary to specify the measures and recommendations that can be taken to alleviate this inequality and specify the limitations and future lines of work.