

Peer Review

Review of: "Quantifying Water-Food Nexus (Water Footprint) for Food Crop Production: A Case Study of Addis Ababa City"

Naresh Kumar Arumugagounder Thangaraju¹

1. McGill University, Canada

The study discusses the water-food nexus by determining two water demand indicators. The methodology is well-established, but the results and discussion section requires ample revision to strengthen the findings. Detailed comments have been added to the original draft.

Attachments: available at <https://doi.org/10.32388/KU8T8G>

Declarations

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.