Dear corresponding author,

I hope these comments find you well. I appreciate your conducting and publishing this study. I believe the present paper will be considerably improved if you pay attention to and make revisions in terms of editorial, grammatical, reference-related, and scientific writing problems, summarize the whole text and the abstract and skip the well-known information, and visualize your findings (like drawing a graphical abstract). Also, a more cohesive discussion with the opening sentence, a discussion of the existing literature, and a conclusive sentence/take-home message could improve your paper significantly.

Best Regards,
