Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1-) You may consider referring to it as one study because you currently shared the findings in one manuscript. It sounds unusual.

These studies show that most TNP users in Italy smoke cigarettes.

2-) You should give information if you mean worldwide.

Unfortunately, ~1 billion people continue to smoke cigarettes despite these efforts.

3-) After the following sentence, you can give more information about missing data, such as the percent of missing data. Also, you can possibly analyze the missing data distribution.

" The number of missing data points was reported."
