

Review of: "Narrative Medicine: Enhancing End-of-Life Care with Literary Stories"

Katherine Ramos¹

¹ Duke University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors offer a compelling perspective on how we may further “consume” ideas, information, and perspectives about the end of life via literary stories. Perhaps expanding on this approach and the use of bibliotherapy, additional insights regarding how these stories may be further leveraged and implemented in medical and societal culture could be a nice next step.