The subject to be dealt with is of great importance, and the way of approaching it is a valuable contribution.

I suggest improving and expanding the methodology described, especially describing how each of the objectives set out at the beginning of the section will be addressed.

In the results section, it is necessary to include the titles corresponding to the subsections (for example, 5.1)

It would be convenient to include some graphs and statistical analysis of the mentioned data to improve the article's appearance.

It would also be convenient to extend the study to the operation of smart cities such as New York, London, Paris, Tokyo, Reykjavik, Singapore, Seoul, Toronto, Hong Kong, and Amsterdam, considering the aspects of interest for this work.
