

Review of: "Antimicrobial Ayurveda Crops as Superfoods for Export, Conservation & Farmers' Benefit"

Amit Baran Sharangi¹

¹ Bidhan Chandra Agricultural University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript is written nicely, and I believe it will be relevant in the present context. However, inclusion of some more content alike could have improved it. The introductory section must make the objective clear to the readers on why the study has been undertaken. The entire text may also include the chemical structures of the important bioactive compounds, some recent relevant citations, along with a few graphics in the form of figures, charts, pathways, etc. After all these compliances, the revised manuscript may be accepted for publication.