The study is highly original, and using patients as the decision-making units (DMUs) increases the study's originality.

However, I have some suggestions. I have presented my suggestions below:

1. The document regarding the ethics committee's approval should be included in the study.
2. It would be more accurate to use the abbreviation P instead of H to identify the patients.
3. Writing the orientation and the model of the DEA will be informative for the readers.

Sincerely.
