While thanking Dr. Dr. Shazia Sajjad Sarhandi, I express my opinions as follows:

In describing the state of Pakistan's health system, it is better to provide a report on the state of various health indicators in different provinces of Pakistan. (How is the distribution of different resources among different provinces?)

Apart from the proposed policies for decentralization, is there any evidence of the operational costs of implementing decentralization in Pakistan? Is decentralization economically justified despite the limitations and challenges you face in Pakistan?
