

Review of: "Psychosocial Rehabilitation Services for Persons with Substance Use Disorder"

Döndü Çuhadar<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Gaziantep University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Alcohol/substance use disorder is an important problem all over the world, and the number of users is increasing day by day. Relapse is an important problem frequently encountered in alcohol use disorders, and psychosocial rehabilitation services are very effective in preventing relapses. This study is important in terms of setting an example of good practice in the field. It requires some minor revisions. My revision suggestions are as follows;

1-In the introduction section, it would be appropriate to emphasize the effects of alcohol/substance use disorders on the individual, family, and society.

2-What is the importance of psychiatric rehabilitation for alcohol/substance use disorders? Regarding this, it would be more appropriate to emphasize in the introduction section and then introduce the services provided in existing centers.

My Decision: Minor revision