

Review of: "Unpacking Snowflake: How a Data Cloud Company is Ruling the Roost"

Oday A. Hassen¹

¹ University of Wassit

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In abstract... The researcher did not talk about the percentage of the strength of the proposed system, comparing it with other systems, and mentioning the percentage that the experiments produced..

In introduction He needs to strengthen his research paper and pave the way for the challenges for which his research paper was written and he was able to solve it....

The paper written is well and the following comments to improve the quality of the manuscript.

1. Add a section that highlights the major contributions of proposed future work to prove the strength of your paper which is already strong.
2. You must give a clear reason for your use of this method. What are the advantages of the method compared to others? In addition, I wish there were comparisons with other methods with mention it as table.
3. your conclusion should be more detailed with your findings and make a table summarizing your work with other recent work that strengthens the strength of your paper.
4. You must give a clear reason for your use of this method. What are the advantages of the method compared to others? In addition, I wish there were comparisons with other methods.

Please revise your paper in the following parts.

- Some of your references are not in the right format.
- There are some references do not have DOI....

Make your contribution more clear and add a table of results in which your work is compared with other results.