

Review of: "Attitude towards business activity risk: evidence using logit models for two groups of OECD countries"

Lucian Lupu Dima¹

¹ University of Petrosani

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I noticed that even if the author intends to present the objectives of his research in subchapter 1.1, in fact it is limited to indicating the hypothesis from which the research starts, together with some general comments.

The results presented in chapter 3 are insufficiently related to the research hypothesis, which is why the discussions in chapter 4 cannot be very related to the topic. This explains why the conclusions are to a small extent directed towards the research results.