A paper proposes a discussion on factors affecting the intrapreneurial behaviour of public university academicians in Malaysia. The proposed methodological approach is interesting and is the main contribution of this paper. I suggest the authors address the following concerns: a) the Introduction section should highlight the novelty of the proposed method and discuss the research gap that this study addresses in the context of recent research; b) the paper also lacks a discussion part and a comparison of results with other studies, more in the conclusion section; c) the "theoretical background of the study" and "literature review" parts should be combined to disclose the theoretical background and theoretical aspects of the study.
