

Review of: "Determination of Evapotranspiration and Crop Coefficients of Irrigated Legumes on Different Soil Types Using the FAO56 Approach"

İlknur Gümüş¹

¹ Selcuk University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is generally well-written. However, grammatical errors and spelling errors throughout the article should be re-examined. It would be better if LSD values were given at the bottom of the table. General climate data and soil properties of the study area should be given in the article. References should be reviewed. The article can be published after the specified edits are made.