

Review of: "Effective and Efficient Ways of Executive Development for Corporates in Fast-Developing Countries"

Salvatore Moccia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Article REVIEW: Effective and Efficient Ways of Executive Development for Corporates in Fast-Developing Countries

The article presents a comprehensive list of trainings available for corporate (executives and workers). The list is quite complete, even if I do not see the link between the list and the "fast-developing countries" cited in the article. The list could be applied to all kind of corporates, not only fast-developing countries.

Finally, it is quite surprising to see all the time spent to explain the Corporate Universities, considering that – as well expressed at the conclusions – they are quite expensive. Is there a bias for this?

Apart from this reflection, the article could be published.