

Review of: "An Experimental Method to Calculate Average Metal Ions Charge by Electrolysis at Different Temperatures"

Nosa Idusuyi¹

¹ University of Ibadan

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The work is interesting. The introduction can be strengthened by Citing relevant articles. However a sketch showing the process would be very helpful.

More recent references can be added.

If possible the authors should validate this work by comparing with standard measurements from other equipment.