This study is good to convey the knowledge regarding biomedical waste management during a pandemic situation but having some weakness i.e

- 1- This study lacking novelty and adding nothing new to the already body of literature.
- 2- Small non-probability sample size and sampling methods, sample calculation is not there, hence Generalization is questioned.
- 4- The data collection tool is not clear.
- 5- Statistical analysis is not complete: express the scores in Median and (inter-quartile range), Non-parametric tests of significance, use appropriate graphs to display data.
