

Review of: "Implementation of the Adult Oncology Unit at Muhimbili National Hospital (MNH)"

Alice Bukhman<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Harvard University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article nicely lays out the justification for opening a new cancer unit and offers a description of the process of opening and staffing such a unit. The article reads something like an advertisement for the unit and would benefit from cutting some of these assertions of excellence and including some more objective data on changes in waiting times or other qualitative or quantitative patient outcomes.