

Review of: "Weathering changes – livelihood adaptation to weather shocks in rural India by disadvantaged social groups"

Uma Langkulsen¹

¹ Thammasat University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Suggestions/Recommendations for authors

Weathering as used in the title is presumed to mean changes in the weather but not the breaking down or dissolving of rocks and minerals on Earth's surface. The title could be rephrased for a better clarity. Eg. Impacts of climate change- livelihood adaptation to weather shocks in rural India by disadvantaged social groups Or

Impact of climate change on livelihood; adaptation to weather shocks in rural India by disadvantaged social groups

Research question

This section should be summarised and merged with the introduction part.

Data

This section should be more suitably presented as Result

Analysis strategy

This section can be divided into the various analytical strategies used under the general heading of Analysis/Analysis of Results.

Eg.

Regression Analysis

Conclusion

This section is more suited for the discussion part.

It is good to have a discussion section of the paper and provide a summary conclusion

General observation

The issue investigated is very relevant however, paper is poorly structured and organised

The following are suggested for consideration by the authors;

Provide information on:

Methodology

Study setting

Discussion-use the conclusion and information from the analysis

Present all tables and figures relating to the data at the results section.

Overall, the manuscript will require extensive reorganization and proof reading to correct some grammatical errors.