There are some improvements to make in this article. You should make three things to have a new version. First, you should improve your literature review. There are no references to characterize the problem and define Augmented Reality technology. It would be best if you told us what REFLORESTAMENTO_JÁ is. Those are essential information for your readers. Second, you have to improve your figures. For example, Figure 1 is a print screen for the Global Forest Watch platform. You can use QGIS or ArcGIS to make your map. In Figures 2 and 3, do you know the coordinates of which place to affirm that are from the same local? To show the forest loss, you could tell the same narrative by comparing two satellite images from the same area but on different dates. Third, you must organize your article into sections: Introduction, Methods, Results/Discussion, and Conclusion.
