

Review of: "The Use of Generative AI in an Interdisciplinary Approach for Cultural Preservation"

Ramon Fabregat Gesa¹

¹ University of Girona

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The digitization of heritage elements is of great importance for their preservation and the use of generative AI is very interesting, although it may raise some doubts regarding the veracity of the generated content. Combining both aspects adequately is a challenge that must be studied. In the article I expected to find a detailed explanation of how it could be used for generative AI for the creation of content of heritage elements