

Review of: "Channeling the Flow — A Metaphor for Computer Programs"

Pierre Yves Schobbens¹

¹ University of Namur

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The author proposes to understand programming as 'channeling the flow', i.e., removing possibilities from the executions of the program. While this is certainly true, the article would gain by providing examples of the benefits that this view brings to real programming.