

Review of: "Adoption of Technology Acceptance and Interfaces for Academic Information System Applications"

Kavintheran Thambiratnam¹

¹ International Islamic University Malaysia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is acceptable and written well enough that the reader can gain the necessary information and analysis from the findings of the authors.

I noticed that there is no comparison to similar systems or systems that can provide a similar output to that being studied now. The authors are recommended to add one or two paragraphs to compare these to their work and also to highlight the advantages of their work over these systems. Also, the authors should compare their system to the current methods and highlight how their system is advantageous compared to current methods.

If possible, have someone assist in improving the level of English. Currently, it is ok, but it can be improved for a better overall reading experience.