The topic is good, but it is not new, and there is no originality. It would have been better to clarify some of the ambiguities, there is no mention of how the study sample was selected. There is also no definition of the (NIFTY 50). The research can be accepted, but it needs minor corrections, which can be summed up as follows: 1- What is the study population and how was the sample selected 2- Procedural definitions of the title component 3- Presentation of the results more clearly
