

Review of: "Factors Affecting the Social Outreach of Microfinance Institutions: Evidence from Ethiopian Microfinance Institutions"

Yumiko Onishi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic of the paper is interesting and shed light on little studied subject - microfinance in Ethiopia. The paper makes thorough statistical analysis of the performance of MFI using a number of variables. Considering that the performance of MFIs were studied from so many perspective, more in-depth, perhaps with some qualitative evidences and examples, analysis as supplement information would have made the paper excellent. Considering the number of statistical analysis done, the conclusion and recommendations are relatively brief. More concrete and specific recommendations would have made the paper valuable.