

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Ossification of Posterior Longitudinal Ligament

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Ossification of Posterior Longitudinal Ligament. NCI Thesaurus. Code C84975.

A disorder characterized by benign depositions of calcium in the posterior longitudinal ligament. Signs and symptoms result from the compression of nerve roots and include motor and sensory disturbances in the lower and upper extremities, and pain in the neck and arms.