

Review of: "Ecotheology: missiological perspective in awareness"

Huiling Lim

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Strength:

It's a good attempt to demonstrate the idea of ecological theology from a missiological perspective. The structure of the paper is precise and congruent.

Weakness:

The concept of interconnectedness should be thoroughly explained. "God is the owner, and the world (nature) is a divine-given entity." — this way of expressing is not convincing to show the concept of interconnectedness.

More suggestions:

1. expand research methodology,
2. more references needed,
3. terms need clarification,
4. use academic language,
5. use correct grammar.
