Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The abstract does not follow the convention. An implication is missing.

2. An unnecessarily long introduction with too much irrelevant information, paragraphs, and without proper citations. The last three paragraphs should be revised.

3. The related works section lacks citations. Please check and revise.

4. In the Methods and Tools section, redundant sentences are present. This section should only focus on how this study has been conducted. No dataset source information is found. The Results section should be in a separate section.

5. No limitations are identified in the conclusion. This paper does not confirm whether they work on only headlines or the news itself.
