

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Fixed drug eruption

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Fixed drug eruption. ORPHA:293812

Fixed drug eruption is a rare toxic dermatosis disorder characterized by the appearance of a drug-induced rash which typically manifests with small (diameter less than 8 cm), erythematous, round, sometimes painful, plaques that result in long-lasting pigmentation and which recur (usually at the same site) upon reexposure to the causative medication.