Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This paper is interesting for potential readers (academics and practitioners), but needs more job on it. Some questions to improve it:

Mention and analyze that the recent Prime Minister declared that all the employees of the Administration must help private companies to be successful in the marketplace.

Introduction is large under my point of view, many of the thoughts here could be in the text to reduce it.

Academic background needs to be improved. Reading more and introducing more cites in this epigraph would help to give some more robust academic fundamentals.

Research design. Authors argue that the data used in this paper come from a special study conducted from September to October 2016. This is near seven years ago. Many things happen since that year: pandemic, war in Ukraine, inflation... Authors need to update the study.
