

Review of: "Curriculum Implementation with a Plan: An Exploratory Analysis of Pre-service Teachers' Application of Gagne's Nine Events of Instruction"

Fatma Cumhur<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Mus Alparslan University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It is a well thought-out study, but it can be made stronger with a few recommendations below.

1. The 'purpose sentence' should be expressed more clearly in the summary section. Additionally, the abstract should briefly state which method was used.
2. The entrance section should be strengthened. For example, the explanations about the lesson plan in the first paragraph seem disconnected from the paragraph, and the paragraph should be presented in a more integrated way. The numerical expressions in the second paragraph should be explained.
3. In the literature review section, only gender was mentioned, and therefore the subject was avoided. This section should be strengthened by citing similar studies.
4. The data collection tool should be presented as a separate title. It should not be included in the data analysis section.
5. Demographic characteristics should be included under the heading of participants in the method section.
6. Research problems should be stated more clearly.

I hope I was useful. I wish conveniences.