

Review of: "Resentment and Multiculturalism: Kymlicka's Canada, Bonilla Maldonado's Colombia and Modood's UK"

A'an Suryana

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is clear and the author has extensively compared social ideas on resentment and multiculturalism as promised in the abstract. However, another promised expressed in the abstract: "...most thinkers did not sufficiently consider the impact of economic integration and the difference in educational credentials on the dynamics of recognition within the contemporary globalized knowledge-based society" has not been explained and elaborated sufficiently. Overall, this article is informative and clear.