

Review of: "Sociodemographic Factors and Parental Verbal Abuse in Indonesia"

Citra Wahyuni¹

¹ Universitas Islam Negeri Raden Intan Lampung

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article ought to be very useful for give recommendation for Indonesia society. However there are some aspects to be elaborated or revised. In the introduction section, researcher should emphasize the affect of sociodemographic factors to parental verbal abuse. Researcher should write the theory about education background, social economic status which can affect parental verbal abuse because the main point of quantitative research is the theoretical based. The written data about verbal abuse coverage data in Indonesia.

In the results section, researcher should explain the domicile of the participants, so the readers know the coverage data of this article. In addition, it could be very useful if the researcher show and explain the mean of verbal abuse based on the sub for each sociodemographic variable (for example, father's occupation: employee, teacher, etc).