Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This paper offers very insightful data on the topic. It is well-referenced and well-organised. The references used are recent and relevant. Comparing religious and non-religious participants' experiences adds richness to the exploration. Figures and tables as well as percentages and counts are effective for the illustration of the data.

Potential improvements:

Increasing diversity in terms of cultural and religious backgrounds to be able to expand findings

Future research could consider more quantitative analyses to complement the qualitative findings. In addition, a more comprehensive qualitative analysis could provide richer insights.

Not clear objectives (research questions)

A more in-depth explanation of the methodology used as well as the results and discussion sections would be suggested

More explicit limitations or suggestions for further research could be included (e.g. comparisons across cultures or larger and more diverse samples)
