

Review of: "Redefining borders in the contested territory between San Pedro and San Andres Cholula"

Anabell Ortiz-Ibarra

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is in accordance with the criteria of content and form. The factors that influence and shape metropolitan areas are presented through the comparison of the two Cholulas. Cartography is the key to the understanding of internal social processes, and the maps are also a representation of the limits and gaps of public policies. It would be great if the ethnographic part of the social actors could be deepened.