

Review of: "A Bibliometric Review of CSR in China Based on CNKI Database: 2006-2022"

Aashna Sharma<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Thapar Institute of Engineering & Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to review such an interesting research. While this article presents a pertinent contribution to CSR research, there are a few aspects that could be addressed and integrated to enhance its overall quality.

To begin with, refining the purpose and clarifying the contributions of the article, substantiated by a robust theoretical foundation, would provide readers with a clearer understanding of the article's goals and significance.

Additionally, delving into the gaps present within the existing literature would enrich the article's context and highlight areas for further exploration. Embedding this analysis within a trend analysis could provide valuable insights into the future directions of CSR research.

Incorporating these suggestions would likely elevate the article's impact, making it even more compelling and relevant to both scholars and practitioners in the CSR field.