Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The subject is essential, it's currently something of a "hot issue", and this study makes significant contributions, but there is something that needs to be revised;

In the abstract section, I suggest the author make some things important elements, such as:

The research objectives must be clear; The research objectives must be clear, the data source and period must be clear, and the methods used need to be disclosed.

In the introduction section, I suggest the author make the research problem clear and establish the novelty of this subject.

In the data and methods section, I would have wished to see more information on the data source, data period, explanation of the variables used in the research, and estimation methods. If there are variables obtained using calculations, the formula used is displayed.

In the references section, I suggest the author update the references with the latest references.
