This manuscript has done a lot of work on the content, but there is still a lot to be done. Many questions have been raised by other reviewers, but I think the following is an urgent need for the authors of the manuscript to address. The manuscript contains a large number of citations but does not match the final number of references given. In addition, the manuscript does not review the latest research results, which makes the overall content of the manuscript seem novel and in need of updating.
