

Review of: "Vietnam's Religious Policy: Navigating the Path to Religious Freedom"

Khatuna Chapichadze<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Georgian Technical University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It is a quite informative article, however lacks academic frameworks, structuring, methodological descriptions that are normally necessary for an academic paper.

I agree with other colleagues as well that some problems emphasized in the article lack thorough explanations and demonstrating the links with certain processes, factors or policies. Solving this would draw a more complete picture.

I'd suggest further elaboration on the paper from the academic prism.