This is an interesting topic, however requires few clarification, updating to make it an academically sound article, hence my review below.

1. The researchers did not explain writers definition of "informal employment" and what is the researchers definition of informal employment.
2. The researchers did not list types of "informal employment."
3. Researcher literature is outdated and thus requires an updated literature reading, between 2013 and 2023.
4. Researchers should explore theories and frameworks.
5. Researchers should create own conceptual framework.
6. What are the identified study gaps?
7. What are the researcher contributions to academic knowledge.
8. Recommendations to stakeholders/policymakers and policy implications.

Best wishes.
