Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. I consider that the authors should include in the title or abstract the period of time analyzed.
2. It would be important for the authors to specify the contribution of this article to the literature in the introduction.
3. It is not very clear if the study covers the entire African continent or Ethiopia. Justify why the choice of one or the other.
4. The authors specify dependent and independent variables. Could a cross-sectional econometric model be more appropriate than correlational analysis?
5. I believe that it will be necessary to distinguish between regression analysis and correlational analysis.
6. The authors should specify the econometric model and describe the expected signs of each coefficient.
7. Each diagnostic test applied to the model and their results should be specified.
8. The conclusions could be improved by briefly pointing out the implications of the main results, the limitations and future lines of research on the topic. Are recommendations made to Ethiopia or all of Africa?
