Generally, the article offers valuable insights into the importance of digitalization for the sustainability and competitiveness of SMEs in the age of the digital economy. It discusses and offers practical recommendations and areas for future research, making it relevant for all stakeholders (policymakers, entrepreneurs, and researchers). However, the article could be improved by including more specific grounded data, case studies, or real-world examples of successful digitization initiatives by Malaysian SMEs. The inclusion of empirical evidence would add depth to the interpretation of digital implications. I also recommend replacing Figures 1 and 2 with more readable and clearer figures.
