

Review of: "Controlling Offenses on Health Care Personnel through Environmental Design of Healthcare Environments"

H.S. Çakır¹

¹ Fenerbahçe University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In the Literature Review section; similar studies can be explained briefly by their findings and suggestions. What are their opinions about preventing crimes relating to their findings? What is the gap in this field for holding this study? Are there any similar environmental design proposals or not?

Are the less use of glass and lowering the visibility and connectivity enough to avoid the violence? What could be the other design suggestions for environmental care and safety? The proposals can be discussed/analyzed on alternative plans and design diagrams.

Violence in healthcare environments is closely related to the cultural and educational states. The interviews with healthcare providers are valuable to reflect the conditions and their requests. Those interviews can be included in the study for further conclusions.