

Review of: "The Strategy of Russia in the Trans-Eurasian Connectivity"

Andre Brand¹

¹ North-West University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The Strategy of Russia in the Trans-Eurasian Connectivity

This review article examines the International North South Transport Corridor (INSTC) as a counterbalance to Chinese influence in Central Asia. The article presents an insightful analysis of the INSTC as a potential game-changer in global trade.

However, the article could benefit from:

Abstract

1. Explain the acronyms in the abstract ...
2. Add one sentence at the end of the abstract detailing what the outcome of the research show ...

Introduction

1. Explain the acronyms ...
2. Might be beneficial to shorten the Introduction ... the introduction focus on the existing trans-continental corridors ... that could be a new heading allowing the article to transition over to Russia and the INSTC as the potential game-changer ...
3. No reference is made to the Figures within the text ... one cannot determine how the figures relate to the content ...
4. It would be beneficial to end the conclusion with the overall outline of the article ... that will allow the reader to grasp the outline of the paper ...

Moscow and its pivot to the south

1. Explain the acronyms ...
2. The Ukraine ware ... close to two years ...
3. The coming period in the 10th paragraph ... what period ...
4. The paragraph dealing with Afghanistan ... is that still applicable considering the US withdrawal ...

Efforts amidst pressures and hurdles

1. No reference is made to the Figure within the text ... one cannot determine how the figures relate to the content ...

2. The paragraph a new trans-continental corridor spanning 3000 kilometers ... is this a different corridor or is this the INSTC ...
3. The last 7 paragraphs could be a synthesis ... consider such an option

Overall, the article is a significant contribution to the importance of Trans-continental corridors and the global role they play ... lastly, it might be beneficial to combine the figures into one figure for better comparability ...