

Review of: "Influence of Motivation on Pre-service Primary Teachers' Performance in Mathematics"

Leah Okobi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In your statement of purpose, it would be beneficial to support the statement of the problem concerning the importance of mathematics by referencing various scholars, researchers, and experts who have emphasized the significance of mathematics in education, science, and technology."

The methodology necessitates a thorough expansion. Specifically, it is crucial to provide detailed information about the participants' characteristics, the data collection tool, the data collection process, and to mention the software used, please ensure to include references for the instruments used and list the specific items that were included in the questionnaire for the variables.

I suggest including the practical and theoretical implications of the studies, discussing the limitations of the studies, and proposing directions for future research. This is necessary as the study currently lacks depth and should delve deeper into these aspects.

If the author revises the manuscript according to the suggestions, the paper can be accepted.