

Review of: "Improving the Integration of Epidemiological Data Into Human Health Risk Assessment: What Risk Assessors Told Us They Want"

Federico Baldassi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper is too long, too many words. My suggestion is to try to summarize it in order to reorganize it in a proper way.

Figure 2 is not readable: yellow dots in the middle of the table are not readable. Please change the color.

75 respondents are a small number of assessors even if the authors collect relevant information from them. In my point of view, the number should be improved.

The results lack detail, and there are few references.