

Review of: "Gestational Inflammation: Its Foetal Control and the Proper Therapeutic Approach"

Ahmet Aydoğan¹

¹ Cukurova University, Turkey

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This review is written on an important subject. However, personal expressions such as personal experiences in the sentence below from the article should be removed. Such expressions are not scientific in the discussions. After such personal opinions are removed from the article, this article can be published as a review.

“In this article, based on the most relevant scientific literature, as well as on fifty years of experience as a researcher and clinician, I will discuss the concept of gestational inflammation in its broadest sense, from the natural maternal immune response to its physiological control by the foetus, up to its harmful pathological deviations. ”