The work has a lot of potential, and I believe people will find it interesting. However, the author should focus on the following:

1. The abstract is too long and appears to be the background. I propose that the authors rewrite the abstract in the following format: background, goals and objectives, methodology, summary of findings, conclusion, and recommendation.
2. The background is insufficiently large. More recent materials should be reviewed by the authors.
3. The methodology section should be rewritten to explicitly state the approaches employed.
4. The authors must ensure that the work is edited to ensure that there are no grammatical errors.
