

Review of: "Mobile Phone Recycling and Stockpiling Behaviour in the UAE: A Gender and Age Study"

Qasim Umer¹

¹ Hanyang University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Ethical clearance of collecting surveys and instrument development is required.

The cover letter must be shared which is used while conducting the survey.

INSTRUMENT (questionnaire) for the current study is advised to submit for further review.

As instruments used are not initially designed in the context of the targeted audience, it is advised to perform and mention the back-translation method.

No theoretical or practical implications in the manuscript were discussed by the authors.

As a reviewer, I can't find statistical analysis that can help to validate the reliability and validity of the study. Specifically, explanatory factor analysis and confirmatory factor analysis are required to support the theoretical view of the authors. I strongly advise making major changes in the METHOD and ANALYSIS sections, before going for further review.